Sport Card Collecting 101 - Mr. Willems

13 students - Morning

Travel - Day Travel

The sports card and memorabilia market value is estimated to be $5.4 billion dollars annually! Combining the popularity of sports with the prospect of making money has grown the card collecting industry from one that was primarily popular with children into one that is for serious investors around the world. We will explore the history of card collecting, how to begin and grow a collection, decide what to invest in and learn how to buy and sell cards online. A trip to a local sports card store will be one of the many highlights of the day! Get your dad (or mom) to dig up their old card collection and let's have some fun!
